BACKGROUND

Serbian airforce has received a highly advanced A-50. In which USA and it's counterparts believe that this kind of High Value Assets is used to gather intel from surrounding NATO nations.

CURRENT SITUATION

After long hours of negotiations with Serbian officials, Serbians refused to comply with NATO requests. However, NATO countries have approved an attack on Serbia to take-out the only A-50 they have.

MISSION DETAILS

Weather – Check AF briefing for details.

Enemy – This time the enemy is well equipped, and their airspace is so much covered by air defenses not to mention their highly advanced jet fighters. The enemy has advanced MiG-29s, SU-27s and believed to have the highly sophisticated SA-10 along with older versions of mobile and fixed SAMs and AAA's.

Su-39's and Tu-160 are reported as well.

Intel expects Serbian's airspace to be highly defended.

Friendly – We have one available E-2C to support us, however, it's take-off time is scheduled at 1845 zulu.

No other friendly units in the air except our flights. USE YOUR SENSORS.

Mission – The mission is to minimize our casualties while penetrating their airspace.

Remember: Serbian air space is heavily defended, so expect pop-up SAM's at any time.

Target – A-50 is our main target. The A-50 MUST be destroyed.

ROE - Engage at your Flight Lead's discretion.

Ordnance – FREE.

Day One in modern air wars is always TOUGH!

Good Luck!
