BACKGROUND

Our attempt to invade the country to our west has backfired. They have retaliated and are now pushing us back. Oh Calamity!

CURRENT SITUATION

We are in danger of losing a massive amount of ordnance, vehicles and men on the southern peninsular. While the front line forces try to hold back the enemy, others are retreating to La Candelaria air base for evacuation. You must help in slowing the enemy's advance.

MISSION DETAILS

Mission – You are part of a number of CAS missions this afternoon to attack the armoured battalions in the enemy's front line. You will be afforded SEAD escort as part of the mission.

Target – You are tasked to attack and destroy the 634th tank battalion. It's last know position was at N 40 47.75 E 16 39.93 and heading towards the west.

Important - The PPCAS attacks are co-ordinated to take place at 16:30hrs to maximise impact and confusion on the enemy. If the first ordnance impact by Cowboy on the 634th tank battalion (misses are counted) is any later than 16:35hrs then it is a mission failure for Falcon and Cowboy.

Weather – Winds are 5 knots from the south. Con layer is at A30. Visibility is excellent.

Enemy – Enemy assets include active capable aircraft and medium level SAM threats. The enemy has been performing ambush CAPs outside our Patriot cover so keep your eyes open. OSA patrol ships are also known to be moving to cover the air base at La Candelaria. An anti-ship mission is in planning but for now they remain a threat to you.

Friendly – AWACs support is on station. There are other friendlies in the form of A-10s on other CAS missions.

Good Luck
