

Buff Strike

This missions objective is to escort the B-52 to it's target safely.
The mission consists of 3 packages:

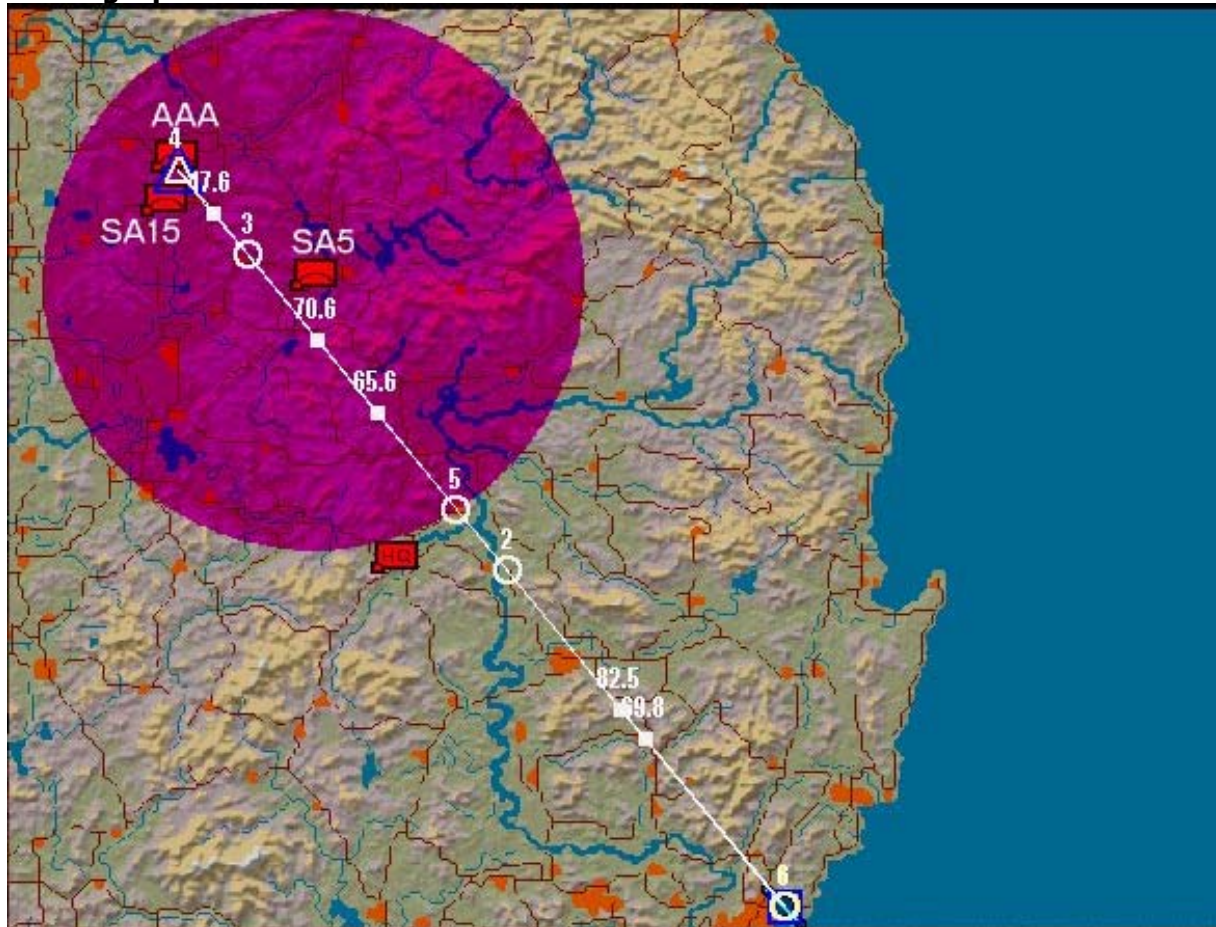

Package 3706 SEAD Strike: 4 F4G, NOT for human use!

Package 97 Escort: 4 F-16C, for humans.

Package 97 Deep Strike: 1 B-52. Target is a Depot at the Forward Reserves Base. (See Recon photo)

Loadouts are free, steerpoints fixed.

The flightpath:

As you can see, the SA5 poses a serious threat to the B-52. The SEAD Strike will hopefully have taken it out before the Buff is within range.

The AAA at the target is no big threat provided that the Buff stays at high altitude, but the SA15 will be if the Buff gets careless.... The Escort can of course take along a HARM or two in case the F4:s don't get the job done.

Intel reports that the HQ battallion is stationary at the moment, but heavy radio traffic indicates that it may change position at short notice so watch out for it.

The Escort should stay vigilant, the flightpath passes not far from several enemy airbases where fighters might scramble to intercept.

The Chinese have pressed far down the West coast and are flying BARCAPs out of the newly siezed air bases in the Seoul area.

The target:

The Buff pilot will get 10 points extra for flying it.

Good Luck!
