

SUNDOWN RETRIBUTION BRIEF

For some time now there has been growing evidence that one of the DPRK's army commanders has been responsible for particularly brutal treatment of prisoners. It was therefore decided recently that this commander would be targeted when the opportunity arose. Intel have reported that he has arrived at the army base just south of Sep'o and is expected to stay there overnight. You are tasked with delivering retribution.

The commander's quarters are in the admin building, so that is your primary target, with the adjacent barracks being secondary targets.

The locations of enemy BARCAPs have been unpredictable and it is known that the threat includes SU-27s. Intel's best guess is that the safest route in and out is as shown on the map, however you will need to clear a path through SAM defences.

The strike flight will take off from Suweon Airbase at sundown and rendezvous with the escort which will fly from Seoul Airbase.
